

Crash Course: How idloom Helps Educational Institutions Enhance Event Registration

Education events aren't easy. Manage everything on-demand with idloom.

Pain point: complexity

Handling in-person, digital, and hybrid events simultaneously creates complexity.

The answer:

Bringing it all together. idloom helped consolidate event management and registration for an institution with 21 campuses and close to 50,000 students.

Pain point: consolidation

More data in more places makes event planning difficult.

The answer:

Consolidate payment, ticketing, and guest data in the idloom platform. Create an event website with information about processes, terms, conditions, and event details.

Pain point: communication

Crossed wires lead to guest frustration and poor event experiences.

The answer:

idloom's comprehensive events platform. Users can manage email campaigns, reminders, presentations, and documents in one place. For one college, effective communication with registered users solved 99% of event problems.

Pain point: customization

Cookie-cutter events are boring, but customization can be complex and costly.

The answer:

Complete control over event details and processes with idloom. Schools can customize the entire registration flow, from websites to registration forms to email communications and event reminders.

Take control of educational events with idloom. Book a demo today.